Take the survey: What's your experience of COVID-19?

BURNABY—Public health and government leaders have made significant decisions impacting every aspect of our lives in recent weeks. The BC Centre for Disease Control wants to hear from you as the province prepares to ease restrictions while keeping B.C. citizens safe, especially those most vulnerable.

BC COVID-19 SPEAK: Your Story, Our Future is a population health survey to understand citizen experiences, knowledge and actions during the COVID-19 pandemic. This survey is the first of several activities that will strengthen our pandemic response and our understanding of the impacts of COVID-19 to date (social, economic, mental wellness and community wellness).

Obviously, the experiences of frontline health care workers will be an important contribution to that response.

Visit this page to take the survey: www.bccdc.ca/covid19survey

About the survey

- The survey is open to all British Columbians 18 years of age and older.
- The survey takes 10-15 minutes and can be done online on any tablet, computer or mobile device.
- The survey will be open until May 31.
- The online survey is available in English and Chinese, as well as a Punjabi survey translation guide.

At the end of the survey, you will be asked to participate in two important initiatives:

- A serology survey (blood testing) to help determine immunity across the population.
- Planning for future waves in which identifying, containing and tracing are substantially strengthened through technology tools to enable integrated and coordinated information sharing.

Help the people in your life to participate

If you know someone who may have difficulty accessing or using a computer, open the survey via the link above, give them a call, and go through all the questions, inputting their answers into the online survey on their behalf. We need your help to prepare for B.C.'s future, and every voice counts.

Participants without online access or needing language assistance can call 1-833-707-1900, seven days a week between 8:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.
